DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5-8 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sandvig '225, as set forth in the previous office action. The substrate 54 is a uniform thickness (fig. 9B). Although, Sandvig '225 is silent in the specification about the thickness being uniformed. Sandvig '225 discloses the foam being made of a specific width and length. In figure 9B, the foam is shown as being flat (not tapered or divergent). Thus, the examiner is interpreting the substrate as being of a uniform thickness.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9-13 and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sandvig '225 in view of Sandvig '047, as set forth in the previous office action. The curable substrate and the compressible surface can be formed to extend along the entire length of a user's foot. The size of user's foot is relative. Thus, the substrate and the compressible material would extend along the entire length of a short foot versus a longer foot. It is simply a matter of extending the substrate and the compressible material to allow it to extend along the entire foot.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15 and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 22, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Sandvig '225 does disclose a substrate of a uniform thickness. However, Sandvig '225 discloses in figure 9B a substrate that is a specific width and length that has a flat surface. The substrate in figure 9B is a flat block of foam that is made of a uniform thickness. Although Sandvig '225 is silent about the thickness of the substrate being uniform, the drawings (which is a part of the disclosure) of Sandvig '225 show a substrate of uniform thickness. Applicant argues that Sandvig '225 discloses a rigid orthotic shell that is pressed onto a resin-impregnated foam block. However, the whether the orthotic is rigid or non-rigid, it still provides a spacer element being the substrate the user's foot. Applicant argues that Sandvig '047 doesn't cure the deficiencies of Sandvig '225. However, Sandvig '007 was used as a modifier to provide a teaching of placing a contact layer over the substrate and under the user foot.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
